We believe that children heal faster when their families are together.

That's why our Houses are built on the simple idea that nothing else should matter when a family is focused on healing their child – not where they can afford to stay, where they will get their next meal or where they will lay their head at night to rest.

We are community funded, which means we are only able to continue our mission because of the generosity of thousands of donors, the hard work of local volunteers, and the dedication of our staff to support families with ill or injured children. Thanks to the unwavering support of groups like the Bill Hargreaves Fishing Rodeo and people just like you, RMHC of Northwest Florida is able to provide a home away from home for over 1,100 families each year.

Over the past 30 years, Ronald McDonald House Charities of Northwest Florida has made a difference in the lives of more than 10,000 people. Our families thank you for your support.

the damaged sections of intestine and insert necessary medical devices. Because his treatment involved daily monitoring and adjustment of his nutritional balance, he spent the first five months of his life in neonatal intensive care. Mom, dad and big sister Mattie found a home away from home at Ronald McDonald House.

Finally, at nearly six months old, Blaklee hit some major milestones and the family was able to take him home. Although there is still a long road ahead, the Tews are grateful to have had a place like Ronald McDonald House to ease their burden along this part of the journey.

While they were waiting for Blaklee to be born, the Tew family knew there was a chance he would have a serious medical condition called Hirschsprung's Disease. The family was no stranger to the disorder; mom and older sister both have it. Blaklee's dad described the hours after his birth as a nervous waiting game. "I never left the window of the nursery, not once," says Matt. "When he started throwing up, I was banging on the window and the nurses started running to him. The next thing I knew, the helicopter was on the way and I was driving to Pensacola."

Children with Hirschsprung's lack nerve cells in a segment of the intestines preventing the digestive tract from operating normally. Before he was even a week old, Blaklee underwent two surgeries to remove

My Family Thanks You...

Being at Ronald McDonald House gave us peace of mind like nothing else could. We could be close to Blaklee and keep up with his daily changes. Without the House, our family would have scattered.

UN-WANTED!!

This invasive exotic species, originally from the Indo-Pacific region, is quickly invading local waterways, and has the potential to severely impact marine & estuarine ecosystems. These voracious predators may drastically damage recreational and commercial fisheries and our economy. Because they are not native to our waters, and because their 13 dorsal, 2 pelvic and 3 anal fins have venomous spines, no natural population controls exist.

The first lionfish were documented on Escambia County public artificial reefs in 2010. In just three years, lionfish have become established at nearly all artificial and natural reefs, and have become the dominant species present on many small, isolated artificial reefs.

At present, lionfish removal by divers may be the most effective method. However, because of the lionfish venomous spines and because they may inhabit deeper reefs beyond the reach of divers, more effective and efficient lionfish population control methods must be developed and implemented. Divers are encouraged to obtain proper training, equipment and experience to remove lionfish when safe to do so. All divers should report lionfish sightings at the website: <http://lionfishmap.org>. This website will be used to track lionfish sightings, report lionfish removal, and monitor re-colonization rates. These data are important to managers, and may greatly increase efficiency of lionfish removal.

Although lionfish have venomous spines, lionfish flesh is excellent table fare, with no greater health concerns than many other native seafood (See website: <http://www.floridahealth.gov/prevention-safety-and-wellness/healthy-weight/nutrition/seafood-consumption/index.html>). The public may take action to motivate lionfish removal by asking for lionfish at seafood markets and restaurants. By developing a commercial market for lionfish, greater harvest pressure will help control their population.
